

Backpacking Stoves & Backpacking Cooking Pots Needed

We need individuals to bring Backpacking stoves and Backpacking cooking pots for boiling water out on the trail (for clean up and preparing the evening meal, and maybe that coffee in the morning – bring coffee if you want some).

The project is willing to buy the fuel for these stoves, but we need to know what kind of stove you will be bringing.

Please e-mail the Shasta-Trinity email address (ShastaAC5@Earthlink.net), identify yourself, and what type of stove you are going to bring, and what type of fuel it requires. We cannot economically buy for 10 - 12 different types of fuels, so when we see the response, we will narrow the stove and fuel type to the most common that people have. If your type of stove is not selected as one that will be supplied fuel for the project, we will e-mail you and let you know. You may bring your stove to the project if you wish, but you will need to bring the fuel also.

As we delegate each person to their crew, we will need to make sure that all crews have adequate coverage with stoves for the evening meals. As a result of those assignments, it may be necessary to "loan" your stove and pans to a fellow Arrowman (one you know/in your contingent but in different crew) for their use in their crew. We hope that you understand and will cooperate in this sharing.
